Early Childhood Concentration
within MSEd Curriculum and Instruction

There is an increased demand for quality teachers in private and Head Start, childcare services as well as preschools, and in the public school systems across the country. In order to ensure the experience provides a quality education for young children, it is imperative that those individuals enrolled in teaching programs receive a broad, solid foundation of knowledge in the field of early childhood education. These courses will enable the graduate student to extend their certification to include Early Childhood Education upon completion.

*The courses in this program include:
  • Emergent Literacy
  • Creative and Sensory Experiences for Young Children
  • Early Childhood Development and Learning
  • Literature: Family/School/Community Collaboration

*Coursework subject to change and changes in availability per semester.
