Translation Provided: Working Together for Better Student Outcomes

Abstract: We've all worked with students who seem not to have a clue about how to succeed in course work and just don't "take the hint" about how to do better when we offer it. This session will look at proven translation strategies that move our students forward in understanding how to meet the demands of the academy. Whether your students are in their first year or their fifth, whether they transferred from other colleges or are coming from our own programs, whether they seem to be motivated or not, we can provide the translations they need to be more effective and self-sufficient students.
